

#FRIENDS FOREVER

2024 REPORT

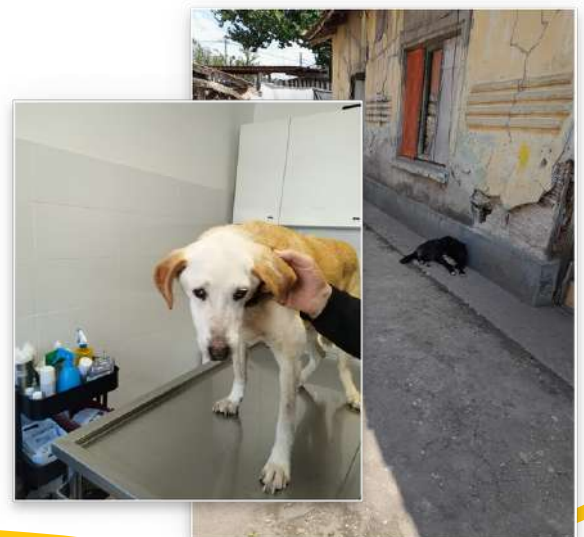

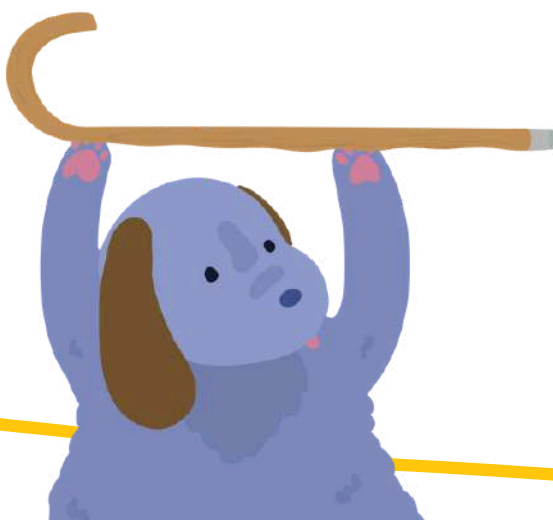

#give hope

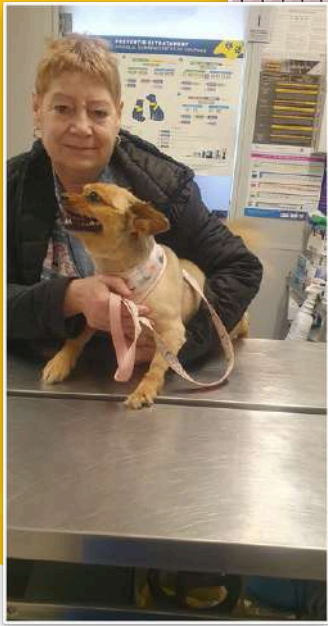

Many seniors in Romania live on the edge of collapse, depressed, in poverty, often being forced to choose between buying medicines or paying utility bills.

For most people, pet ownership is a source of happiness, purpose, and daily friendship. Older pet owners often say life was quieter and emptier before their pet came along—even if caring for their animal meant adapting to a few new routines.

ROLDA's FriendsForever campaign continues to offer support to seniors with income under 2.000 lei (aprox 400 euro), for paying pet-related costs, to keep their pets safe.

Do you remember Bobita? He was rescued while he was a puppy by Mrs. Corina and we helped them with different vet costs. His last problem is that he started vomiting after eating. The doctor did some checks and prescribed special dog food that was very expensive for his owner. The food prescribed was paid by ROLDA.

Mrs. Ilinca has many pets: dogs and cats. Two of her older dogs, Rex and Pongo need supplements for the joints and we bought it. Also, one cat, Betty, started having problems with her teeth. ROLDA helped Ilinca cover all these costs that were way over her power.

Mrs. Lidia's dog was not feeling well. The doctor asked for many blood tests and analysis to establish the source of the problem: CBC, electrolytes, thyroid hormones and cardiac markers. She could not afford to pay for all the costs and so ROLDA stepped in and helped.

She couldn't afford their treatment, so we helped them receive infusions and medical care until they regained their energy and appetite. Sadly one of the puppies who was weak and frail, lost its battle with the illness, leaving a heartbreaking silence. ROLDA provided financial assistance for the treatment, and we also sent food because her journey to the vet had depleted her funds.

Mrs. Gaby discovered a cat on the street that was unfortunately tied up with a wire around its neck and abdomen. She attempted to lure the cat with food for many days and eventually caught it. Mrs. Gaby has a very low income and struggles to make ends meet, so she reached out to us for help. Unfortunately, her low income makes it difficult for her to provide the necessary treatments for the animals, especially for the ones with health issues. Recently, we helped her with deworming for some of the cats and a dog named Berta, who suffers from arthritis. One of the cats, Misy, required biochemistry, hematology, and cardiology investigations last month, and had to repeat these tests this month to ensure that everything is okay.
