Highlights:

ROLDA sponsored for 23t of food donated from Sweden to be transported by Rateg association and distributed to rescuers in Kherson, Odessa and Mykolaiv (May 2026)

ROLDA sponsor the Animal-Assisted Rehabilitation and Nature Therapy Program

The program offers free, nature-based therapy and social inclusion for children with neurodevelopmental needs. Feldman Ecopark, Kharkiv is delivering it in partnership with the organization "Parallel Worlds", which supports children with autism, and with the guidance of some consulting experts from the "Institute of Neurology, Psychiatry, and Addiction of the National Academy of Medical Sciences of Ukraine", with whom we have signed a memorandum of cooperation.

The full course consists of ten sessions, held three times a week - on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays - with each session welcoming between eight and twelve children accompanied by their parents. Every session is carefully structured and supported by our volunteers, trained animal handlers, a group guide and an administrator, so that each child receives gentle, personal attention in a calm and predictable environment.

During this program, children have enjoyed a rich variety of experiences: quiet contact and hands-on feeding sessions with our goats and lemurs, horse riding and structured hippotherapy (equine therapy), and visits to our rock park and swan lake, where they were able to feed the swans, nutrias and other animals. Alongside these, we held nature excursions and a relaxed outdoor picnic, as well as tactile art therapy masterclasses designed for both the children and their parents. Each session closed with a tea-time break and some free time together in the park.

The routes for the above missions are almost the same during these 3 months and cover the most dangerous zones near the front line, where no other organization goes to extract animals to safety.
Every time rescuers go there is a high risk that they will never return back. But they continue to do so, week after week, approx 3 times/week.
